

FAMILY PRAYER GUIDE

(monday & thursday nights, Jan 9th -29th)

During this 21 days, there are 2 nights a week that are scheduled for family prayer. You can use this guide for one of these nights each week, or stretch it between both. It may even be beneficial for your family to leave one of these nights open to pray as God leads. Use this guide however it would benefit you during this time. We believe that this will be a powerful time as you pray, both together & over one another as a family. Remember: prayer in the home may feel intimate & even awkward at first, but that's ok. Let's embrace the normalization of prayer in the Home!

WEEK 2: "For Such A Time" in our Family

Flow of the Night

Open in Prayer: Mom & Dad, lead out in prayer to start the night. You can utilize the scripture & prayer focus.

Participate in Prayer: If you have kids, have them pray what is on their heart if they so desire.

Partner in Prayer: Take some time to listen to prayer requests & spend time praying over one another. (Mom & or Dad - your children can also pray over you!).

Scriptural reference: Throughout all of scripture, God reveals Himself as the sovereign creator. We know that He is always at work, ordering times & seasons for His purposes. As families, we are praying that God would give us His sense of divine timing, & He is saying to our families in this season.

Prayer points → Take a couple of minutes praying over each point. These are just guides. Be sensitive to the Holy Spirit leading the group to pray in some specific areas over your Family.

- Pray that your Family would be rightly focused on His Kingdom.
- Pray that your Family would seek His Kingdom above all else.
- Pray that your Family would embrace God's process of healing, 'For Such a Time'
- Pray that righteousness would be exalted in your Family like never before.
- Pray that God would strengthen each individual, couple, &/or parents as they fulfill their God-give role in your Family.
- Pray that Your Family would sense what God is doing "For Such A Time as This" like never before.
